I am pleased to enclose the first three appendix volumes to our final report, Personal Privacy in an Information Society.

The first volume deals with an analysis and compilation of state laws concerning privacy and related topics; the second deals with our recommendations relating to the Internal Revenue Service and the confidentiality of tax returns; while the third covers employment records and employee-employer relations.

In the near future, we will be releasing additional appendices on our assessment of the Privacy Act of 1974, and a review of technology and privacy.

If you have any questions or require additional information, please contact our staff at (202) 634-1477. The Commission will cease to exist after September 30, 1977.

Sincerely,

David F. Linowes
Chairman

Dear Mr. Chairman:

Thank you very much for sending me a copy of your Commission's report entitled Personal Privacy in an Information Society.

Such a study is invaluable and represents a significant step forward in insuring that the individual privacy rights of every American are better protected. I am circulating this report to those individuals directly concerned with these matters.

Again, many thanks.

Yours sincerely,

/s/ Stansfield Turner

Dear Admiral Turner:

On behalf of the Privacy Protection Study Commission, I am pleased to enclose a copy of Personal Privacy in an Information Society, our final report to the President and the Congress. I hope you and your staff find the report of interest, as its recommendations call for action by the Executive branch and State governments, as well as by the Congress.

If you have any questions about the report, please do not hesitate to contact me or Carole Parsons, the Commission's Executive Director, at (202) 634-1477.

Very truly yours,

David F. Linowes
